LOOKING INTO THE SIGNS OF THE TIMES WITH THE LIGHT OF FAITH AND KNOWLEDGE

Dear Alumni/æ and Friends of Saint Andrew School,

In November of 2008, it was my pleasure, indeed my honor, to introduce to you the inaugural issue of the SAS Alumni Newsletter. This current reflection will draw heavily upon my own words in that first newsletter, because they remain true. "Our Lord reminds each of us in the fifth chapter of St. Matthew's Gospel after proclaiming the Beatitudes that "you are the light of the world. A city set on a mountain cannot be hidden. Nor do they light a lamp and then put it under a bushel basket; it is set on a lampstand, where it gives light to all in the house. Just so, your light must shine before others, that they may see your good deeds and glorify your heavenly Father." (vv. 14-16) In the short time as your pastor, so many of you have shared stories and have reminisced about experiences at the school and the parish. These accounts have impressed me, not so much by the content of the stories, rather by the passion and love with which they are recalled. To me this evinces that, in so many wonderful ways, Saint Andrew School is that lamp that cannot be put under a bushel basket, but needs to be set high on a lampstand. We hope this SAS Alumni Newsletter will serve in some small way of sharing and spreading its light and the good news of what happens at Saint Andrew."

For almost eight years, this Newsletter has reported to you how Saint Andrew School in Drexel Hill has been and continues to be a Light in the darkness and confusion of our own time. Still today, we strive to hand on to our children the light of Christ and His Good News to prepare them to enter a conflicted and divided world of fragile peace, broken promises, and a frightful disrespect for life. Allow me to repeat the words of Pope-emeritus Benedict XVI that I quoted then: “It is becoming ever clearer that only moral values and strong convictions, and sacrifices, make it possible to live and to build the world. ... If there is no moral force in souls, if there is no readiness to suffer for these values, then a better world is not built; indeed, on the contrary, the world deteriorates every day, selfishness dominates and destroys all. ... In the end, in fact, love alone enables us to live, and love is always also suffering: it matures in suffering and provides the strength to suffer for good without taking oneself into account at the actual moment.” (25 July 2005) These are the core values that form the mission of Catholic education, Saint Andrew School and our desire to build a civilization of love and a culture of life through faith and knowledge.

Many times, you have heard me repeat these words and you will hear or see them many more. They remain central and fundamental to my belief in and commitment to Catholic education. I wrote: “The cynical prophets of secularism will scoff and tempt us to believe that Catholic parochial schools are something of the past, financial black holes, or even, a waste of time, energy and money. Call me either idealistic or naïve, but I do not believe such nonsensical ignorance. I do not believe it, because I am a product of the sacrificial love of my parents, the parish priests, the Sisters of the Holy Family of Nazareth and the lay teachers and staff that formed the community of learning that taught me not only the three R’s, but more significantly, about what life and love really mean: the on-going lesson of moving from narcissistic self-centeredness to Eucharistic self-giving. Is there anything more valuable in which we might invest our own time, energy and financial resources than in providing our children with the fundamental tools to engage this world with its myriad of temptations and empty promises?”

In November of 2015, Saint Andrew School celebrated its First All-Class Reunion at the Springfield Country Club in Springfield, PA. What an incredible event! It was sold out with 600 people. For me, it’s hard to remember another event in which there were so many people of varying ages and interests who were united not only in the fact that they graduated from SAS, but there was a real joy and happiness that pervaded the entire venue. Everyone genuinely had a great time. This “spirit” is what makes SAS that magical place full of grace and challenge and life! Your love of SAS and your deep desire to share that magic with a whole new generation of kids is what keeps us going at top speed.

You may have heard that 2016 marks the 100th Anniversary of the founding of St. Andrew the Apostle Parish in Drexel Hill. As part of that celebration we are engaging a very significant undertaking to commemorate the Centennial—our Gift of Faith -Legacy of Love capital campaign. Its aim is to raise the funds required to complete our church renovations and to build a third floor Parish Center and regulation-size gymnasium onto the Fr. Hughes building (formerly known as the new school or upper school). Our need and goal is to raise a minimum of $3,000,000 over the next 3-years. A challenge goal of $5,000,000 has also been set, which will enable us to complete the entire project without incurring any debt.

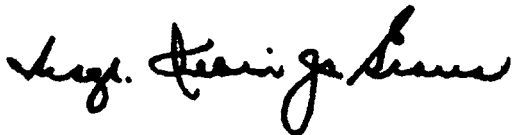

It is my honor to officially begin this labor of love with my own pledge of $10,000 to this historic project and to invite you to assist us in three ways:

- 1) PRAY daily in gratitude to God for the Gift of Faith and Legacy of Love you received through your own education here at Saint Andrew School and for the success of our campaign to forge a new century of Faith, Knowledge and Love in Drexel Hill.
- 2) VOLUNTEER, if you are local. By offering to become a campaign volunteer, you assist in assuring that the campaign is efficiently run. To volunteer, simply complete and return the "Volunteer Willingness Card" you'll find at the main entrance of the church or call Kathy Daly, our Campaign Assistant at our office 484-461-3063.
- 3) SUPPORT the campaign financially. As you may have heard, many of our parish leaders have made generous pledges already and the campaign is in full swing. There are a variety of ways that gifts might be made, but long-term gifts or pledges payable over a (3) year period are needed to assure both the success of this effort and our ongoing operations.

As our patron, St. Andrew knew so well, when he sought out the lad with five barley loaves and two fish, when we place into the hands of our Lord the best and most generous gift of which we are capable, (even when we believe ourselves that it is too little); we will be utterly amazed at how He in His goodness is capable and willing to multiply it to benefit so many beyond our wildest imagining. Looking into the signs of the times with the light of Faith and Knowledge, join us, then, in continuing this awesome task of love by forming the future of our parish, our community and our world. By your prayers, your encouragement and your generous support, you can help us share this Gift of Faith - Legacy of Love with the next generation. Be assured of our profound gratitude and a remembrance in our prayers.

Sincerely yours in Christ,

(Rev. Msgr.) Albin J. Grous

PS. I would like to take this opportunity to once again thank all who made a donation to Saint Andrew School in memory of my father, Narcissan "Norman" Grous, who went home to Our Lord on August 11, 2015 at the age of 87. Donations to SAS totaled $3,035. May God continue to reward you for your generosity.

From the Principal

The second semester at Saint Andrew School began with the news that Mr. Bill took ill over the holiday. Bill Layden, Mr. Bill to the SAS students who ride Upper Darby Bus # 11 from school each day, passed away on January 9th. Fortunately, our students had the opportunity to write notes and send cards to the hospital before his going home. According to our students, Mr. Bill was the best bus driver ever! He knew each child by name. He knew where they lived and who was supposed to meet them at the bus stop. On the day of Mr. Bill's funeral several of his riders were there dressed in their school uniform. My heart swelled with pride and gratitude for the families who came to honor this man who performed his duty of transporting children to and from school with such diligence, a dose of wry humor, and a good amount of prayer. Often he would be seen slipping into church for a visit before dismissal. A long time parishioner of St. Cyril Parish, Mr. Bill was one with us.

Events such as this cause me to wonder anew about this faith we share. In the end, our life's journey is meant to bring us home to God. One can only imagine how joyous that homecoming must be! The recent Saint Andrew All-Class Reunion provides a glimpse of what that final homecoming might be. On this short trip back home, the SAS alumni were able to reminisce at they toured their elementary school. Fr. Joe Farrell, O.S.A., presided over the celebration of the Alumni Mass bringing all to communion with the real Presence of Christ. Preparations were made with care by the reunion committee chaired by Claire Martorana '77. The Springfield Country Club was arrayed with red and white, our school colors. The smiles, the embraces, handshakes and shoulder pats of classmates reunited after many years were so heartwarming to see. The evening gave way to chatter and laughter as stories of the glory days gone by and updates on what folks are doing now filled the ballroom. Love was present. This was truly a joyful celebration of life.

At the start of the public phase for the St. Andrew Centennial Capital Campaign, Melissa DiNofia-Bozzone noted, "At our core, we are a prayerful people - caring about one another and lifting each other through triumph, tragedy and each sacramental celebration." Many have endured hardships and loss, yet are genuinely happy. This is God's grace. There is nothing better to pass on to our students than the Culture of Life and Civilization of Love that lifts the heart in times of sorrow and challenge. This is the faith we strive to instill in our students each day. Your help in this endeavor is greatly appreciated. For it is, still, all good! May God be praised in all we do!

All – Class Reunion Mass

Homily of Rev. Joseph Farrell, O.S.A.

Monsignor Grous, Fr. Cossavella, Monsignor Leighton, Fr. Stack, Deacon Curry, Sisters of St. Joseph, Teachers, Classmates, Schoolmates, and Parishioners of Saint Andrew Parish. It is good for us to be here. It is very good for us to be here as we continue with the Centennial Celebrations of St. Andrew the Apostle Parish in Drexel Hill.

My name is Joe Farrell and I am a proud graduate of the class of 1977 from St. Andrew School. Suzanne Smart [reunion Mass Cantor pictured center-right] and I are both from the class of 1977 and are happy to be here and are very proud of the education we received.

I am an Augustinian priest, and soon after I was ordained my first assignment was in a parish in a small town north of Boston, MA. Growing up in St Andrew Parish, I knew the Sisters of St. Joseph of Chestnut Hill quite well because of their dedication to Saint Andrew School. When I moved to Massachusetts, I met my first School Sister of Notre Dame. Her name is Sister Elaine and she taught me something I found a bit peculiar at first. She told me that when she was in the Novitiate, her novice mistress trained her never to say, "THANK YOU".

I told her that I thought it was a bit strange for someone to teach young people in formation never to say Thank You! She continued to say that she was trained to replace "Thank You", with "God will reward you."

For her novice mistress, "thank you" meant that there would have to be some obligation to reciprocate the favor. Since the Sisters were not able to reciprocate by paying back what had been given, they were always trained to say, "God will reward you." I began to like the phrase, I found it an interesting way to offer one's gratitude.

We heard from the Letter to the Colossians in our second reading today. At the center of the reading we heard today were three simple words... Right in the middle of the beautiful virtues of meekness, simplicity, kindness and love we were reminded... "And Give Thanks." In that short imperative statement, we are, once again, reminded of the importance of that simple gesture of gratitude.

Saint Andrew School

“We are obliged to this school for what it gave us from the beginning years of our young lives. Although we may not have been aware of it at the time, enormous sacrifices were made on the part of many people to provide us with the gift of a Catholic Education. We are obliged to all those who assisted us in the education process.”

I was in Sao Paulo Brazil last week and, although my understanding of the Portuguese language is poor at best, I was able to pick up one word that is used a lot – Obrigado. They use it as an expression of gratitude. In a literal sense, it means, I am obligated to you. I am obliged. So what does obliged mean? It signifies a movement toward a legal or moral bind or link. It means a relationship has been established.

Isn't that why we are gathered here today? A relationship has been established and we are obliged to recognize that relationship. But to what do we have this moral or binding obligation? It is made real on many levels. We are obliged to each other as classmates and parishioners. We are obliged to our families, faculty, and all of the parishioners who sacrificed for our education. It is a sacrifice of the whole community to educate the next generation and we are obliged to give thanks for that gift we have received.

We are obliged to offer gratitude to our world as we are connected to the reality of living in a global society. Tragically, we know how much our world is in need of peace these days. We, as recipients of the education we have received, are obliged to offer to our world the peace for which it thirsts. In doing so, we realize the bond which we have with our sisters and brothers around the globe.

We are obliged to this school for what it gave us from the beginning years of our young lives. Although we may not have been aware of it at the time, enormous sacrifices were made on the part of many people to provide us with the gift of a Catholic Education. We are obliged to all those who assisted us in the education process.

In the Gospel of Luke, which we heard proclaimed this evening, the familiar story is of the ten lepers who were healed by Jesus Christ and only one, the Samaritan, returned to give thanks. We are here at this Mass to pause and give thanks to God for the many ways in which we were touched by the grace of God and for the many ways in which we have received blessings from God, especially through the education we have received.

And so, as the Prophet Zephania from our first reading proclaims, shout for Joy. We are obliged to shout for joy. Yes, because of the experience we had and continue to have with St. Andrew School. We offer a thanksgiving shout of joy. Because of the salvific work of Jesus Christ in our lives, we shout for joy.

Indeed, we are obliged to give that joyful praise and we are obliged to represent this great parish and the education we received at this school by contributing to the world in a way that through us, God will reward the world. The graces we received here, we share gratefully with the world around us, and with our families and with our friends. It is good that we are here. It is good to give thanks to God.

We are obliged.

Obrigado. May God continue to reward St. Andrew Parish and School.

Saint Andrew School All-Class Reunion Event

Since the inaugural issue of the SAS Alumni Newsletter in 2008, the heading of our “Class Notes” section of the Alumni Newsletter has included the following tagline –

“It is the bonds that develop over the elementary school years that link alumni for life.”

That very special, uncommon bond was on full display at Springfield Country Club on November 27, 2015.

In celebration of St. Andrew Parish’s centennial jubilee year, SAS held its first all-class reunion event which included school tours, a Mass for alumni/ae, and a reception / dinner at the Springfield Country Club. The sold-out event witnessed 600 alums and guests gathering from eighteen (18) states, Ontario Canada, Rome (Fr. Farrell) and the District of Columbia. Graduates spanned 66 years (1941-2007) or 70% of SAS 93 years of excellence. Graduating Class representation was also outstanding with alums from 60 different years in attendance – including 48 consecutive years spanning the period 1947 through 1994!

Saint Andrew School 2015 Annual Appeal Campaign

Our 2015 Annual Appeal Campaign is underway. Your gifts truly do make a difference in the lives of our students - enabling many families to continue their enrollment at SAS through the financial assistance provided through your directed gifts, installing 30 new Dell desktop computers this past summer in our computer lab or simply assisting in the funding of critical academic endeavors. We are truly blessed and forever grateful for your prayers, generosity and support of our school.

Please complete this section and print your name as you would like it to appear in the Spring 2016 edition of the SAS Alumni Newsletter
